Art Unit: 3781

1. The drawings remain objected to because they are not of sufficient quality for reproduction. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter, which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. It is not clear how applicant intends for the coupling members to be "reapplied" as is now claimed in claim 1. It appears that it would be the separation mating members that are reattached. If the coupling elements comprise stitching as claimed in claim 4 they would appear to be permanently coupled to the cover.

3. Claims 12,14,16-22,25 and 26 have been withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention and species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 2/20/06.

4. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claims 1-4, 7, 8, 10, 11, 13, 15 and 24 remain rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nakajima '145 in view of Inoac et al '059, both of record.

Nakajima teaches a modular cover with sections joined by a slide fastener or zipper tale. To have secured such a fastener to the same side of the cover section for ease of application would have been obvious in view of such teaching by Inoac et al (note 21a and b.

5. Claims 1-5, 8,10, 15 and 23 remain rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nakajima in view of Semons '207, both of record.

6. To have secured the zipper on the same side of the cover for ease of application would have been obvious in view Semons. Note the protective element of Semons at 74.

Art Unit: 3781

7. Claim 27 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the references as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Talbot 783.

To have applied the material coupling element such that it communicates with the exterior of the cover in the manner of Talbot such that it can be fit to the covered object and permit access to the object would have been obvious.

8. Claim 6 remains rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the references as applied to claim 5 above, and further in view of Ware '103, of record.

To have covered the adhesive with Kraft paper to protect it would have been obvious in view of Ware.

9. Claim 9 remains rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the references as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Guggenheim '154, of record.

To have formed the cover of vinyl, a well-known heat shrink material would have been obvious in view of Guggenheim

10. Applicant's arguments filed 5/11/07 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant is advised that replacement drawings were never received with any of the amendments. In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., the cover is preapplied to the object) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993). Applicant appears to be arguing the method claims. In any event Talbot teaches such an arrangement where the door cover is applied after the cover is fit to the object.

11. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

12. The following are suggested formats for either a Certificate of Mailing or Certificate of Transmission under 37 CFR 1.8(a). The certification may be included with all correspondence concerning this application or proceeding to establish a date of mailing or transmission under 37 CFR 1.8(a). Proper use of this procedure will result in such communication being considered as timely if the established date is within the required period for reply. The Certificate should be signed by the individual actually depositing or transmitting the correspondence or by an individual who, upon information and belief, expects the correspondence to be mailed or transmitted in the normal course of business by another no later than the date indicated.
